Source: https://codetrappers.com/guides/what-is-headless-wordpress/

What is Headless WordPress?

Headless WordPress is a decoupled architecture where the front-end is separated from the back-end. The WordPress CMS is used for content management, while a

3 Mar 2025 1 min read

Headless WordPress (https://codetrappers.com/development-for-headless-wordpress/) is a decoupled architecture where the front-end is separated from the back-end . The WordPress CMS is used for content management, while a JavaScript framework (like Next.js or Vue.js) handles the front-end display. This setup improves performance, security, and flexibility, making it ideal for enterprise websites, SaaS applications, and multi-platform content delivery.