An assistant that answers from your content

An AI assistant that answers from your own content, hands off to a human when it should, and does not invent things about your product.

It works from your own pages, hands off to a human when it should, and does not invent things about your product.

Questions

What people ask before they start

Something not covered here? Ask us directly and an engineer will answer.

Ask a question (https://codetrappers.com/contact/)

It answers from your own pages and says when it cannot find something, rather than filling the gap with a plausible sentence. The risk worth designing against is not a wrong answer, it is a confident one drawn from an article that happens to sit on your site.

Yes, and it should, at the point where a sale or a complaint starts. An assistant that keeps trying when a human is needed costs you the enquiry.

It depends on volume and on which model you use, and that is worth modelling before launch rather than after the first invoice. We size it against your real traffic and tell you the number.

- A free audit first

We'll look at your site and tell you straight what needs doing.

- Fixed scope, fixed price

Agreed in writing before any work starts. No hidden fees.

- A real engineer on the call

You talk to the people who do the work, not a sales script.
