Questions

What people ask before they start

Something not covered here? Ask us directly and an engineer will answer.

Ask a question (https://codetrappers.com/contact/)

No. The new environment is built and tested in full before anything changes, so the switch is a DNS change rather than a rebuild in place. The old site keeps serving until the new one is verified.

Every indexed URL is crawled and mapped to its new address, and those redirects are tested as 301s on staging before go-live. We then watch crawl errors and traffic for the fortnight afterwards, which is when problems surface.

More than 300, with zero data loss incidents. We are trusted to run moves even by other agencies, which is a reasonable measure of whether the process holds up.
